

Unworldly

Advantages

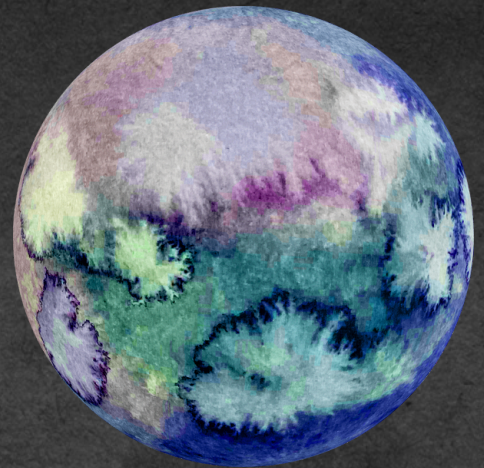

Imagine it. One hundred years into the future,
Earth's livable space is overpopulated.

Your family is notified that they have been selected to move to another planet and start a new community.

Resources are limited.

Which advantages can you afford to secure?

A Game of High Stakes

Transport participants into a hypothetical future where they explore the impact of privilege on another planet.

In this highly interactive exercise, family groups must make decisions about advantages they can purchase to help them flourish in a new community on another planet.

Limited resources will create inequity in the advantages each family is able to acquire.

Through thoughtful choices and discussions, participants gain deep insights into the nature of privilege and its profound impact on individuals and communities. This exercise is a powerful experience that prompts personal insights about the importance of equity.

To book this experience for your team, please contact angela@mindpowerstrategic.com or visit www.mindpowerstrategic.com/book